On April 20, 2010, the Deepwater Horizon drilling rig exploded, leading to the largest offshore oil spill in history. In this talk I will go through a timeline of what happened, discuss the possible environmental impacts of the spill, and hopefully dispel some myths that have popped up in popular media over the last 6 months regarding the disaster.