Emergency Phone Number Correction

The article in The Interaction Point (TIP) for the Emergency hotline printed the wrong phone number. The correct number is 1-877-447-7522 (1-877-447-SLAC). Please make a note of it. We will also run a correction in the April issue of TIP.

Washington Update

SLAC Director Dorfan, Fermi Director Witherell, and HEPAP chairman Fred Gilman were in Washington DC this week to talk about the budget and other issues affecting high-energy physics.

Another Small Step for Womankind

Battelle announced the appointment of Dr. Lura Powell as Director of the DOE Pacific Northwest National Laboratory (PNNL) in Richland, WA, effective April 1. Powell, 49, has previously served as Director of the Advanced Technology Program for the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) in Washington, D.C. In addition, she has operated her own technology consulting business. Powell has a Ph.D. in analytical chemistry and she is the first woman to head a major multiprogram national lab in the 60-year history of the DOE.

Take Our Daughters to Work Day

The planning committee for TODTW will meet Wednesdays, 2:00-3:00 PM, in the Yellow Room, Building 41, starting Wednesday, March 8. Volunteers are still needed to help, so please contact Susan Hoerger at ext. 2358. Remember that there are all sorts of tasks to be done, and the amount of time varies, so even if you can only spare a few hours, you can be helpful.

Tenors and Sopranos Needed

"It looks like we are getting enough people together to start a SLAC Choir!" enthuses Alf Wachsmann. The group is now up to eight singers and more people are welcome at any time. Dave Millsom might know of a conductor for the group, and decisions need to be made about where and when to practice and what type of music to sing. The first meeting will be March 8, 3:00-4:00 PM in Conference Room A, third floor, Bldg. 50 (Computer Building). Contact Alf at ext. 4802.

Book Club Notes

A Writer's Beginning by Eudora Welty is the book scheduled for discussion on March 31 at noon, room TBA. Welty was born in 1909 in Jackson, Mississippi, and is a short-story writer and novelist. Her work focuses on the regional manners of people inhabiting a small Mississippi town that resembles her own birthplace. Contact Marty Sorensen at ext. 4240.
