(Editor’s note: QN will be on vacation until January 5. Happy Holidays)

Linac Resumes Operations in January

The linac was searched on December 11 and will be started in early January, along with the damping rings, positron source, and all the systems needed to generate beams for injection into PEP and the A-Line. End Station A is scheduled to be secured in late January. The detailed schedule is available on a Web page linked to the SLAC Detailed Home Page.

Flu Shots

Flu shots are now available to the low-risk group while supplies last. Schedule: Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday 10 am to 11 am and Tuesday and Thursday from 1:30 pm to 2:30 pm. No appointments necessary. Call Medical ext. 2281 for more information.

Readers Take Note

For our next SLAC Book Group meeting, we will read a book of critical essays. This book discusses the lives and writing of about ten authors: The End of the Novel of Love, by Vivian Gornick, 1997, 165 pages. “Something a little different for this month,” says Susan Walz ext. 2557. Meet in Conference Room A, in the SCS Building on Friday, January 19, 2001 at noon.

Outlook Class Schedule

Getting Started with Outlook will be offered at the following dates and times: December 20; January 11; January 19; and January 25. All classes start at 9 am. For more information and registration see the SLAC Computer Education Home page.

Thanks for Giving

“Thanks to everyone for participating for a successful year. Last year SLAC collected more than 800 pounds of food, this year we collected 1,373 pounds and some small cash donations as well. Quite an improvement!” says Stephanie Carlson, one of the organizers for this year. A reminder that the Food Drive will be rotating among the departments, so think about what your group can do next year.

T-Shirt History

Diana Gregory, on reading about the history of SLAC t-shirts in the December Interaction Point, was quick to point out an earlier chapter in the saga. "I helped Hilda Korner with t-shirt sales back in 1977 or 1978. It was a plain white shirt with 'SLAC' in red letters across the front," said Gregory. "But that was long ago."
FleaMarket

You can post your classified ad using the SLAC FleaMarket Submission form. You can get to the current ads from the Announcements section on the SLAC Home Page. These pages can be viewed from computers within the SLAC domain.
