Stanford Faculty Senate Meeting at SLAC

On Thursday, January 11, SLAC hosted the University Faculty Senate meeting for the first time since 1980. After a short business meeting and a presentation from Director Jonathan Dorfan, Senators toured the site.

Alpine Gate To Be Open an Additional 30 Minutes in the Mornings

Beginning Friday, January 12, the Alpine gate entrance to SLAC will stay open an additional 30 minutes to accommodate SLAC staff. This change is in response to the heavy congestion our staff is experiencing on Sand Hill Road (eastbound) as they exit Highway 280 in the morning. The Alpine Gate hours will now be:

- Mornings 6:00 a.m. - 9:00 a.m.
- Afternoons 3:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m.

Don't forget valid SLAC ID badges are needed to access SLAC from the Alpine gate. Questions? Contact Rick Yeager, Manager of SLAC Safeguards and Security, ext. 5333.

Research Office Building Update

Bidders walked through SLAC this past week to look at the site for the Research Office Building, so things are moving along for construction. The building will be located next to A&E and will contain offices and conference space.

Exchange Server Outages Expected

Teresa Downey (ext. 2903) is giving early warning that there will be at least one and possibly more outages of the Exchange server during this coming 3-day weekend. Major work is being done on the NT file server to make it more stable and easier to maintain. The first outage will be Saturday, January 13, at 8:30 a.m. probably for several hours.

Drell Wins CIA Award

Sidney Drell, SLAC’s emeritus deputy director, received the National Intelligence Distinguished Service Medal, the U.S. intelligence community’s highest honor, at a January 9 ceremony at CIA headquarters. The award cites Drell as "the unrivaled science and technology 'workhorse' of United States intelligence" who is responsible for "bringing White House and intelligence community attention to bear on a wide range of critical scientific and technical challenges confronting this nation.” For more information, see the SLAC Awards and Honors Web page.

Outlook Classes Continue
The next e-mail session is scheduled for Wednesday, January 17 at 10:00 am in the Computer Center, 3rd floor Conference Room. Contact Mary Crume ext. 3683. “The Outlook class will change,” says Crume, “from a six hour class into three parts due to feedback from participants.” An Outlook FAQ is also available online.

TIP Now Online

Thanks to Roxanne Jones and Ruth McDunn who have converted The Interaction Point (from March–October 2000) to pdf files and made them available on the Web in SLACONLY space.

St Bede’s Breakfast

A reminder that our neighbor across the street, St Bede’s Church, hosts a monthly breakfast speaker and networking meeting. Call to reserve a spot for Wednesday, January 17 at 7:00 am to hear Ian Robertson, Director of the San Francisco Opera Chorus. Cost is $10 and the program ends promptly at 8:15 am. Phone (650) 854-6555.

Book Club Changes

The date of the next Book Club meeting has been changed from Friday January 19 to the next Friday thereafter, to wit: January 26 at noon. The room has also been changed, and the meeting will be in the Blue Room in the A&E Building.
