Innovative Cosmic Rays Website

The Virtual Visitor Center has a new section on Cosmic Rays. Developed by Willy Langeveld, Ruth McDunn, and Helen Quinn, it provides a novel hands-on feature that allows visitors to extract data from the cosmic ray detector for further analysis.

John Fox's Teaching is Lauded

John Fox, who shares his time between SLAC and the Applied Physics Department, has received the Dean's Distinguished Teaching Award. The nomination cited the quality of his Applied Physics lab courses as well as his informal, non-classroom teaching and was supported by numerous letters from students and faculty.

SLAC/Campus Shuttle Riders

In August Stanford's Parking & Transportation Services is reviewing the SLAC/Campus Marguerite shuttle service. They will decide if the shuttle route can be changed to include a stop for passengers at the Oak Creek apartment complex. To comment on this potential change, or any aspect of the service, send email to Marguerite@stanford.edu.

Tourists Pet Feeding Sharks

Heath O'Connell has pointed out this CNN news story about tourists (not residents, of course!) in his home town of Adelaide, Australia. Sounds like a Darwin Award in the making.

FleaMarket

You can post your classified ad using the SLAC FleaMarket Submission form. You can get to the current ads from the Announcements section on the SLAC Home Page. These pages can be viewed from computers within the SLAC domain.

QuickNews Available via Email

If you wish to receive the email version of QuickNews in the future, send a message to majordomo@slac.stanford.edu with the message in the body.

subscribe quicknews-l