Monday is the Integrated Management Expo

Make sure to attend this very important briefing on Monday, September 22. The Expo couples the Annual Safety & Security Briefing with an interactive, hands-on, "get to know your safety and security protection systems" exhibit area. Also remember to bring your house key if you want to get a free duplicate key made on the spot.

Fewer Physics Grad Students Coming to the U.S.

The Statistical Research Center at the American Institute of Physics reports that the fraction of physics graduate students coming to the U.S. from abroad has declined since the 2000/2001 academic year, reversing a steady climb that had been in effect since 1970. Two-thirds of the PhD-granting physics departments in the US say that at least some of their admitted students from abroad have been unable to attend owing to visa problems, with students from China and from the Middle East seeming to have the most trouble entering the US.
